

MODIFIED WEAPONS FOR SIMULATION

"A full spectrum of modified weapons."

AIS provides a wide selection of modified weapons, ranging from dedicated modified firearms to simplified drop-in barrel kits that can be used in the customer's own weapons.

Modified weapons start with the actual or demilitarized weapon, which are then fabricated to prevent the chambering or discharge of live rounds. Modified weapons offer:

- The look, weight and feel of the original weapon
- Designed for reliability and ease of maintenance
- Sensors and components manufactured for extended life

Dry Fire - Design options for modified weapons provide viable training and diagnostic tools for simulation without recoil:

- Dedicated Dry Fire - Dry fire barrel and permanently modified weapons, allows for unrestricted movement

Recoil - Modified recoil weapons increase the realism of your training experience. Multiple recoil designs allow you to choose the best fit for your training needs:

- Canister (un-tethered, realistic recoil, quick installation and removal, works with 12g disposable CO2 canister)
- AirMunition® (un-tethered) - Reliable recoil, unrestricted movement and most realistic, uses rounds loaded with compressed air
- Canister (tethered, integrated Dvorak AirRecoil kit) - realistic recoil, quick installation and removal, works with CO2 canisters in a belt pack
- Floor Box (tethered, system controlled) - Reliable recoil, dedicated use and control, status feedback, modified weapons are tethered to floor box
